

Region 2 Priority PWS

Background:

As part of EPA's increased oversight of the Lead and Copper Rule, EPA requested detailed information from the primacy agencies on priority public water systems such as schools, tribal systems, and systems with multiple/historical ALEs. Below is a list of public water systems in EPA Region 2 that are still considered a priority. The criteria utilized to identify these public water systems include:

- Tribal PWSs
- School PWSs
- PWSs with ALEs between FY13-15

EPA HQ will update this list in 30 days based on the information provided by the states. The state will not need to provide regular updates on priority public water systems that are adequately addressed. Adequately addressed means:

- The public water system experienced an ALE, conducted the mandatory 2 rounds of monitoring and was below the ALE 90th calculation, conducted required public notification and public education.
- The system is no longer active or required to comply with the regulation.
- The information in SDWIS is incorrect and the state will address (i.e. California was the state with the highest number of data entry errors)
- Conducting a corrosion control study or re-optimizing existing corrosion control.
- The system incurred multiple ALEs but has connected to another system.
- The system investigated and remediated the source of the ALE.

This list is meant as a guide, and so it does not list all possible reasons to consider a public water system addressed.
